

Binding guideline of the Faculty of Medicine SMU for teaching in the Summer Semester 2021/2022 for the study program General Medicine

Teaching at the Faculty of Medicine in the Summer Semester of 2022 will take place according to the valid schedule approved in the Study Program.

Teaching in the Summer Semester will take place in a presence form in all the years.

The condition for participation in full-time teaching (students and teachers) strict adherence to anti-epidemic measures in the following way:

- vaccinated persons as following:

- persons with not less than 14 days and not more than 9 months after receiving a second dose of COVID-19 vaccine (two-doses mode of vaccination),
- persons with not less than 21 days and not more than 9 months after receiving the first dose of COVID-19 vaccine (single dose mode of vaccination),
- persons with not more than 9 months after receiving the booster dose (the third dose in two-doses mode of vaccination, or the second dose in single-dose mode of vaccination),
- persons with not less than 14 days and not more than 9 months after the first dose of COVID-19 vaccine, if the first dose has been given within 180 days of the overcome COVID-19, overcome COVID-19 in vaccinated persons is considered as a booster dose (as a "replacement" for the second and third doses) within 180 days);

or

- overcome COVID-19 not more than 180 days ago, this fact must be proved on the basis of a positive result of the RT-PCR test

or

- students who do not meet the above requirements must prove before each lesson by a negative PCR test not older than 72 hours or a negative antigen test not older than 48 hours (the teacher is responsible for the attendance list and updating information).

The Head of Department may decide to use the distance form of teaching through the MS TEAMS (instructions published on the SMU website) for lectures or theoretical seminars. Course guarantors are responsible for the organization and logistics of distance learning. They must organize distance teaching in the following way:

- students must be well informed in advance of the conditions teaching (technical and logistics),
- took place exactly at the time specified in the schedule,
- has not disrupt the course of full-time presence teaching of other subjects.

The Management of the Faculty of Medicine will inform you about any changes in advance. The guideline will be updated according to the situation.

01.02.2022

ass. prof. Martin Gajdoš, MD, PhD.
Dean